MINISTER ZIKALALA PROMOTES SOUTH AFRICA AS AN INFRASTRUCTURE INVESTMENT DESTINATION

By Lennox Mabaso

A South African delegation to the United Kingdom, led by the Department of Public Works and Infrastructure (DPWI) Minister Sihle Zikalala hit the ground running, engaging with business and investors soon after landing in the UK.

The Minister who is joined by a delegation from Infrastructure South Africa (ISA) is on an official working visit in the UK, presenting opportunities for investment in order for South Africa to attain its long term goals. The delegation believes that infrastructure is the catalytic pillar to revive South Africa's economy post COVID-19.

Minister Zikalala has shared that South Africa has bankable infrastructure projects and clear policy certainty. "We have mega infrastructure projects but we have limited funding. We need the Public-Private partnership so that the funding of infrastructure does not become the sole task of government. The key areas of investments are in water and sanitation, infrastructure, the energy sector and transport, especially the rail network," the Minister said.

Today, Minister Zikalala will address hundreds of investors from all corners of the globe who are involved in infrastructure finance market, trade and export - at the Global Africa Trade Conference in London.
