

The Guptas regard Africans as unintelligent

I once read an article by Ranjeni Munusamy on how the Gupta family treated Africans during their infamous wedding held at Sun City in May 2013, and it made me very angry.

It is alleged that one of the Gupta brothers called an African security guard a monkey.

To the Guptas, South Africa is just another county in the African jungle. They believe that Africans are corrupt and are prone to diseases, hence they could not allow them to work at the spa in Sun City during their wedding jamboree.

Instead, they called back some of the white staff that had left their jobs five years prior, to massage their Indian guests.

This same family allegedly summoned certain African ministers to their family compound in Saxonwold to offer them cabinet posts.

My question is why didn't they do the same with minister Rob Davies or deputy minister Jeremy Cronin?

The answer is obviously that they think Africans can't make their own decisions. In their minds, Africans can be bought with dirty money.

They came into SA with the assumption that Africans are dependent on handouts that if they capture one of them at the top they will be praised as saviours.

To hell with the Guptas!
