

Russell waiting for action

IN The Witness of February 15, Nompilo Kunene's report on Russell High's hopes that repairs to the school can start soon, was an accurate summary of the saga that has been going on since 2013.

In the article, KZN Education MEC spokesperson Kwazi Mthethwa was reported as saying that the school principal and the school governing body know what processes need to be followed when dealing with the department and asked that they follow those processes to get the desired response from the department.

Mthethwa is correct in that the school principal and SGB do know what the processes are. They have been following them faithfully since 2013, but so far they have not had any result.

The SGB sincerely hopes that Department of Education, the Department of Public Works, Amafa Heritage and the premier, as custodian of the building, will take action soon to achieve the desired result.
