

Moegoe

Public Works Minister Patricia de Lille is our moegoe for her lackadaisical attitude and approach in dealing with the Beitbridge border fence that was not worth the money the state paid for its erection.

Moegoe De Lille this week returned to finance watchdog Scopa to face its wrath for her failure to account for the substandard fence that cost taxpayers R37-million. The fence was vandalised and fell over days after it was erected.

Scopa blames De Lille and her department for the failure to exercise political accountability.

If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen, minister.
