

Learners told to conserve water

UThukela District Municipality Extended Public Works Programme (EPWP) and Municipal Health Services (HMS) team, worked in partnership with the Steadville Community Library and the Department of Sports and Recreation to talk to learners from Emnambithi and Nikela primary schools about water conservation.

The teams visited the schools to raise awareness on the use, management, conservation and protection of water resources, GBV and the rights of learners. "Reaching out to the schools around our community environment is always important to create awareness against Gender-based Violence. The team continued to promote and create safe environments where children are free to learn and gain skills through education, hand-in-hand with sports and recreational activities," said official Sibongakonke 'Bo' Byathi.

Health and other promotional gifts were given to the children, while a quizz session was conducted at the end of the awareness campaign to see what the learners could recall.
