Lifestyle audits

TWELVE officials in the Department of Public Works and Infrastructure are in hot water after they failed to subject themselves to lifestyle audits.

The information was revealed this week when Public Works and Infrastructure Minister Patricia de Lille responded to IFP MP Sanele Zondo's questions about the outcomes of the Special Investigating Unit lifestyle audits of officials in her department.

Compulsory lifestyle audits for officials were introduced in April last year.

De Lille said 66 of the department's senior management personnel were subjected to lifestyle audits. | IOL
