Ngaka Modiri Molema District Association successfully launches Women in Business

MAFIKENG MAIL - MAHIKENG: The Department of Public works and Ngaka Modiri Molema partnered together with the Association of Women in Business (AWID) last week Thursday at Seasons wedding venue in Mahikeng to officially launch the organisation.

AWID is an Association of Women in Business established as a need to cater and be a mouth piece of Women in business who resides and does business within Ngaka Modiri Molema District.

Currently the organization consists of 34 of women who form a committee and will be open for all women in business within the bounds of Ngaka Modiri Molema early next year with a little joining fee of R 500. 00 which can be paid in two parts.

The Department of Public works played a major role in the success of the launch with the Support of the District Municipality.

Executive Mayo, r Cllr Khumalo Molefe congratulated the Association and made a promise to support it to its full extend. He also mentioned that he was especially ecstatic "as this organization is for women and by women".

Cllr Molefe told the women who represented different municipalities in the district. He said that it was long overdue that women took a leading role in spheres that have been previously dominated by men.

He also told the dozens of women that he was more glad that the launch was done in the August officially known as the month of women. The Executive mayor of Mahikeng Local Municipality Cllr Tshepiso Mphehlo also congratulated the Association and mentioned that the Municipality doors weare always open where support is needed.

Women in business interested in joining the association can contact their office on 073 5554573 for any enquiries.

Part of the many women who attended the event.