SAFER public spaces and a clean environment were the aims of the Ulundi clean-up that took place in C Township last Thursday.

Ulundi Local Municipality, including members of the Expanded Public Works Programme and Environmental Affairs, embarked on the clean up of drainage systems and clearing of bushes.

Municipal manager, Sandile Khomo said:

“Some other things we do during our campaign is level the potholes, conduct an electricity audit checking for illegal connections, and fix street lights to ensure that our residents are safe.”

Khomo discouraged pupils from using a bushy footpath when going to school as it is dangerous.

“Even though it is a shortcut to get to the township, we won’t clean it, to discourage learners from using it. We urge our children to walk along the road as it is safe to do so.

“We also urge members of the community to desist from illegally dumping their garbage on vacant sites as it ends up blocking the drainage system in our roads.”
