Police now also patch potholes!

Police members joined an initiative to patch potholes on the R566.

The police in the Brits surrounding areas went above and beyond their duty to protect last week and joined an initiative to patch potholes on the R566.

Police members from Mooinooi and Bethanie, led by their station commanders and in conjunction with Bila Civils, the chairperson of Mooinooi Rural Safety Forum, Mooinooi and Bethanie Community Police Forums (CPsF) and the provincial Department of Public Works and Infrastructure (DPWI), patched potholes on the R566 road between Majakaneng taxi rank and Berseba village," said police spokesperson Brigadier Sabata Mokgwabone.

Bila Civils contributed the required material, while the DPWI and police provided manpower to get the job done. "The initiative will contribute positively towards general safety, among others, by reducing accidents and crimes committed when motorists are stuck on the road due to pothole-related breakdowns," Mokgwabone said.
