On Tuesday, 5 August, in the Vhembe District's council chamber, Executive Mayor Freda Nkondo (in the centre) welcomed 100 Expanded Public Works Programme (EPWP) contract workers. She emphasised the need for discipline, time management, and reminded them that their 12-month contracts are temporary and non-renewable under EPWP policy. She said the workers would gain skills in technical services such as plumbing and water infrastructure maintenance, while their inclusion addressed staff shortages and supported the municipality's goal of reducing unemployment and improving public service delivery. Photo: Silas Nduvheni.
