DA seeks updated impact study on school development amid growing population

Legislature

The Democratic Alliance (DA) supports the Langenhoven Park Comprehensive School project but remains concerned over the absence of an updated impact study.

The only existing study dates back to 1982, before the area's significant growth in residential complexes and population, which has placed heavy strain on infrastructure.

The DA will engage with the Departments of Education, COGTA and Public Works to ensure proper planning and processes are followed.

While recognising the urgent need for a new school, the DA insists on thorough preparation to avoid another failed Free State school project.
